Q: Android: How to change the layout of the WebView? I'm using a WebView to implement some interactive content, but I can't seem to change it's layout as I wish. For example, I would like to have a horizontal view on the top, and a vertical View on the bottom. I've tried with:

It's like asking, how does a train disappear from a tracks. In this case, the train is a game and you are the track. Let's play real simple. Take your phone, call me, or text me, or an email, and state the game you want to play. The question asked is: When we get there, what is the game we are playing? At its simplest, the following line is sufficient. "I'm playing Atari at the hotel. It's called Ninety." That's all you need to state the game, or the rules. In case you aren't familiar with the game Atari at the Hilton Hotel, it was basically Atari and Pong in a big room. When you hit the ball, it went where you sent it. Games are intense. Or, the text: "We're playing xxx at the hotel tonight." Or the email: "We're playing xxx at the hotel tonight." It doesn't matter how the game is played, when you just state what game you're playing. At its simplest, you state "I'm playing Atari at the hotel." In no time at all, you've got a game going. Now, if
